

WebKraft Hosting / E-mail

Acceptable Use Policy

*All covenants, statements and terms are delineated in our Hosting Contract on the WebKraftHosting.net website and supersede any statements, terms on this record. *

WebKraft LLC. Formally referred to as “WebKraft” offers Web Hosting and E-mail services on a server located in a secure data center. Availability of these services and customer access to our server is conditional upon the proper use and conditions listed here. The customer is responsible for the content of their web site and e-mail messages sent from the server. The customer is also responsible for maintaining security of their personal information as it pertains to accessing e-mail accounts and their website. The following general rules should be followed, and used as a guide as you proceed. You should:

- Abide by the polices of other networks or political domains through which your data may travel.
- Respect the conventions of the Internet community by:
  - Not Spamming (Unsolicited Commercial Email)
  - Not use WebKraft servers or equipment for illegal activity.
  - Not resell WebKraft server space, e-mail accounts, or other services without written permission from WebKraft.
  - Not intentionally interfere with or harm other users in any way.
  - Not attempt to break down any WebKraft system security measures.
  - Not cause harm to WebKraft or WebKraft equipment
- Protect your computer(s) from adware/spyware and spreading viruses

NOTE:

You should not share the use of your site Admin, FTP, or E-mail accounts or your passwords with anybody. This protects your privacy as well as prevents other from causing mischief in your name.

Any suspected violation of the Acceptable Use Policy will result in the immediate lock of your account. WebKraft, its authorized Resellers, affiliates or contractors will not be responsible for any losses in time or business that occurs as a result of locking the account.

Not paying a monthly bill by its due date or not responding to contact requests or other important communications from WebKraft to the customer may result in the locking of the account.

Email left on the servers for more than 60 days is subject to deletion without notice. Email tagged as junk mail will stay on the server for 15 days.

Use or utilization of server connections which cause problems or lack of availability for other people are not permitted. Excessive use of server resources or bandwidth is prohibited and may be billed accordingly.

The customer will not hold WebKraft, its authorized Resellers, members, affiliates, or contractors responsible for files or other data held on the WebKraft or Reseller servers.

The customer will not hold WebKraft, its authorized Resellers, members, affiliates or contractors responsible for any business or time losses as a result of Internet connectivity, server access, e-mail access, web content, e-mail accounts, e-mail or network / server downtime.